TEACHING

The New School for Social Research Teaching Assistant for Till van Treeck for the course 'Political Economy of Distribution and Growth: United States and Germany'.	2021
University College Maastricht After finishing my BA degree, I worked full-time as a Junior Teaching Fellow for two semesters. The work included teaching entire courses (along pre-existing syllabi), which included holding all course sessions, grading, and office hours. Moreover, I conducted admission interviews, second-graded BA theses, and contributed to the remodeling of the Research Methods courses and the introduction of the UCM Methods Lab. The teaching method I used was problem-based learning (PBL). Courses I taught over the year were: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- Philosophy of Science</li><li>- Contemporary World History</li><li>- Theory Construction and Modeling</li><li>- Research Methods I &amp; II</li><li>- Research Project</li></ul>	2017-2018
Exploring Economics Summer Academy At the Summer Academy , organized by the Network for Pluralist Economics and the Protestant Academy of Thuringia, I've taught the week-long, semester equivalent course Ecological Economics and Degrowth (twice together with Corinna Dengler, once on my own).	2018, 2019, 2021
